

Types Of Garlic

Fall Grown Hardneck Garlic

Types of Garlic

Hardneck Garlic is more winter hardy and is usually grown in areas that have very long, cold winters. It can be identified by a rigid stem visible in the centre of the bulb. Hardnecks are usually planted in the fall, often have stronger, spicier flavor and store well.

Elephant - Has 3 to 5 very large cloves but very mild, nutty flavor

Bogatyr - A variety known for its hot, strong taste. Excellent for roasting

Duganski - Fiery flavor that mellows when cooked. Stores well.

German White - A very nice strain for our northern climates. Great for roasting due to large cloves.

Legacy - A rocambole garlic with 4 -6 very large cloves in a bulb. Has strong, full flavour.

Mexican Purple - This garlic has a hot flavour when raw, but becomes milder when baked

Music - Music is large, beautiful, well-formed porcelain garlic. Its flavor is very rich and musky, strong and robust and sticks around for a while.

Almighty Red - The standard of excellent flavor in rocambole garlic. This is a delightfully mild, full flavored, productive garlic that stores very well, presents a nice appearance and has an excellent raw flavor.

Russian Red - A rocambole garlic with a rich, musky flavour and is very hot when eaten raw. Grows great in the northwest.

Tibetan - Hottest variety of garlic, providing 8-12 cloves/bulb. Stores well. Late maturing variety

Armenian Porcelain- A musky rocambole garlic. Good for storage and eating raw

Northern Quebec Porcelain- Very strong smokey aroma. Hot taste.

Susan Delafield- Spicy, delicious, tolerates wet soil conditions. Porcelain style

Chesnok Red- cold hardy. Full, mellow garlic flavour. Best garlic for baking.

Crème de la Rasa –mild, rich flavour. Stores up to 8 months.

Georgian Fire –Bold flavour, intense, and sweet. One of the hottest garlics.

Italian Porcelain –Easy to peel. Smooth, rich, mellow flavour

Kostyn's Red –Intense long-lasting flavour. Stores up to 8 months

Majestic –Distinctive heat, with mellow aftertaste. Creamy, smooth flavour

Persian Star –Full-flavoured garlic with bite. Nutty flavour when roasted.